There are discrepancies regarding her actual age: Her marriage record gives her age as 22 and on the 1891 census her age is given as 28, in 1901 her age is given as 39 and in 1911 as 48. The 1921 Census gives her age as 65 and her death record gives her age as 82. Why there is a later addition of 7 years to her age is unclear.

After returning to the Western Front he was taken prisoner on 3rd May 1917 during the Battle of Bullecourt near Arras, France. German Prisoner of War records now available through the Red Cross in Geneva, Switzerland show that on 20th June 1917 he is held at a concentration camp in Saltau, Lower Saxony and on 27th December of that same year he is held at Hameln (Hamelin) about 80 miles further south. Both records state that he had been wounded in the right thigh and that his home address was 2, Pitt Street, Boothroyd Lane, Dewsbury.

Released after the Armistice, he was admitted to the 2nd London General Hospital in Chelsea on 22nd November 1918 and was discharged on 11th March 1919 as sick, being issued with Silver War Badge number B146930. He died at his home at 18, Cross Mount Street, Batley on 6th October 1921 from Acute Pulmonary Tuberculosis caused by war service. He is buried in Dewsbury Cemetery.
